The Green Deal is a government programme offering loans for people to carry out work to make their homes more energy efficient, such as fitting new boilers, solar panels, insulation or double glazing. The loans are only approved if an assessment says the savings on energy bills will outweigh the costs of the upgrade. The loan is paid back through people's energy bills over ten to twenty-five years, at an interest rate of just under 7%. If someone moves house, the loan is passed on to the new homeowner
