A senior advisor to the Bank of England has said that the government has delegated too many powers to the Bank of England.

Thinking about the balance of power between the Bank of England and the government, do you think the government have given too many powers to the Bank, not enough powers, or have they got the balance about right?

The government should give more economic powers to the Bank of England and keep less for itself	10	10	8	13	11	9	10	14	6	6	11	10	11	11	9	14	12	9	8	4

Currently most large shops are only allowed to open for six hours on Sundays. During the Olympic and Paralympic Games the Sunday trading laws have been suspended and shops have been allowed to open for as long as they like on Sundays.

What do you think should happen after the Olympics and Paralympics?

The rules should return to normal and large shops should only be allowed to open for 6 hours on Sundays	37	39	41	32	39	42	38	34	40	32	30	40	42	37	37	38	39	39	39	18
