This week George Osborne, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, delivered his second budget.

Overall, do you think Mr Osborne has taken broadly the right or wrong decisions in the Budget...

...for Britain as a whole?

Thinking about the government's spending cuts and programme to reduce the deficit, which of the following best reflects your view?

- The government's cuts are not tough enough, and they should be cutting faster or deeper
- The government's programme of cuts is right, and they are correct to stick with it
- The government is right to make such large cuts, but should be doing them more slowly
- The government is wrong to make such large cuts, and should be increasing taxes more
- There is no need to make such large cuts or to increase taxes
- Not sure
