Thinking about Members of Parliament who represent a political party, which of the following best reflects your view?

So long as an MP has done a reasonable job they should be entitled to stand again for their political party at the following general election and defend their seat – only if an MP fails badly or is very unpopular with members should there be a full reselection

MPs should face a full reselection before every general election – local party members should have an opportunity to decide if they want to keep the sitting MP as their candidate or pick an alternative candidate

The Labour leader Jeremy Corbyn was recently shown sitting on the floor of a Virgin Train service from London to Newcastle. He was reported to have been forced to sit on the floor because the train was overcrowded and there were no unreserved seats available. Later Mr Corbyn was able to sit down after a family were upgraded to first class. Virgin Trains has responded, releasing CCTV footage and saying there were seats available and that Mr Corbyn walked past them on his way through the train.

Jeremy Corbyn has now admitted there were empty seats on the train and claimed Virgin Trains just released the footage because of his opinions on nationalising the railways

Have these events given you a more positive view of Jeremy Corbyn, a more negative view of Jeremy Corbyn, or has it made no difference either way?
