80. Budget Deal Approval

A two-year, bipartisan budget deal recently was signed into law by the president that would increase spending by $80 billion for both defense and nondefense programs. The deal was financed through a combination of methods including raising employer fees on pensions, selling off part of the Strategic Petroleum Reserve and shifting funds among Social Security accounts. The move means there's less chance of a government shutdown. Do you approve or disapprove of the budget deal?
