Imagine Britain left the EU on these terms:

Britain leaves the EU and does not sign any new trade deal with the rest of the EU. Britain does not have automatic access to European markets, and there are tariffs or other barriers on many British exports. Britain has full control over our borders and immigration, does not have to follow any EU regulations and does not have to contribute any money to the EU.

Imagine Britain left the EU on these terms:

Britain leaves the EU and instead agrees a free trade deal with the EU, like Canada. Britain can export goods to the EU without paying tariffs, but the deal does not include services, so does not allow British industries like financial services to export freely to the EU. Britain has full control over our borders and immigration, does not have to follow any EU regulations and does not have to contribute any money to the EU.

Imagine Britain left the EU on these terms:

Britain leaves the EU and instead joins EFTA, like Norway. Britain still has full trade access to EU markets. EU citizens would still have the right to live and work in Britain. Britain still has to follow EU regulations on the single market, but not on things like agriculture, fishing or home affairs. Britain has to make a financial contribution to the EU.

Do you think this outcome would be good or bad for Britain?

Would be good for Britain	35	54	21	29	46	53	18	39	31	46	41	31	23	41	27	42	32	32	35	47
