Thinking about the process of Brexit, once Brexit negotiations between Britain and the European Union have been completed, what do you think should happen?

There should be a second referendum of the British people to decide whether or not to accept the deal	27	48	8	15	40	39	7	27	26	39	31	22	16	29	24	38	24	23	27	30

At the beginning of the year Theresa May set out what the government will seek to achieve in Britain's exit negotiations with the European Union. Below are some of the negotiating targets she set out...
Controls on immigration from EU countries
Open border with Ireland
Guaranteeing with rights of EU citizens already in Britain and UK citizens already living in Europe
Continuing to work with the EU on security and law enforcement
Leaving the single market and negotiating a new free trade deal
Leaving the customs union and negotiating a new customs agreement
If Britain does secure the sort of Brexit deal described above do you think it would be good or bad for Britain?

And in practice, do you think a deal like this is or is not realistic possible?

Is realistic - if the government negotiate well this is realistically possible	41	27	62	59	25	36	68	43	39	34	32	49	56	42	41	30	46	45	41	31
Is not realistic - other EU countries will never agree to this	33	49	19	22	50	42	15	37	30	31	39	31	26	37	28	42	28	32	33	41

Now imagine that Theresa May isn't able to negotiate everything she wanted, and the deal between Britain and the EU ends up being...
Controls on immigration from EU countries
Border checks between Britain and Ireland
Guaranteeing the rights of EU citizens already in Britain and UK citizens already living in Europe
Continuing to work with the EU on security and law enforcement
Leaving the single market and having only a limited free trade deal with the EU, with tariffs or limits imposed on many goods and services
Leaving the customs union and introducing custom checks on British imports and exports to the EU

If Britain secures the sort of Brexit deal described above do you think it would be good or bad for Britain?
 Would be good for Britain
 Would not be good for Britain
 Don't know
