Imagine there was such a referendum. Imagine that a Brexit deal was struck along the lines of the proposals that Theresa May has set out, and there was a three-way referendum on whether or not it should go ahead.

People would be presented with three options:

- Britain to remain a member of the European Union,
- Britain to leave the EU and accept the negotiated deal, or
- Britain to leave the EU without a deal.

The referendum would be under an alternative vote system, meaning you would cast votes for your FIRST and SECOND preferences. How would you vote?

What would be your first preference?
